THE DAY OF YOUR EXAM:

Here are some tips that will help you control your stress and anxiety the day of your exam. You may want to try them beforehand to find out which one works best for you:

- Deep breathing. Inhale deeply while you count to five and hold the breath for a count of one, then slowly exhale while you count to five. Repeat as many times as necessary.

- Move your body. Roll your head in a circle then rotate your shoulders. Shake your hands at your wrists. You should find these movements very relaxing.

- Visualize your success. Visualize your happy place. First, figure out where it is. Then, close your eyes and visualize yourself there. This is a great one to practice in advance of your exam.

More specifically, if you feel overwhelmed during your exam, here are some tips you can utilize to calm yourself:

- Repeat your self-confidence message. Or, better yet, write it on the scratch paper they give you. I WILL PASS!!

- Visualize one more time. Visualize yourself completing and passing the exam with time to spare.

- Find an easy question. They won't all be easy, but there should be some really easy test questions you encounter. Find one and answer it. Completing a question you absolutely know you got right will give you a good confidence boost.

- Take a mental break. Face it, the exam is long. You will probably have at least one mental lapse during the exam. If you do, accept it and bring your brain back into focus. Close your eyes and do some deep breathing for a short period.

We hope these tips will help you control your exam anxiety and stress. Good luck on your exam.
